Re the question (1) will be solved by the new standing orders, but as these standing orders will not be published for some time, I think it would be desirable for the C.C. to issue an order now, as suggested, delegating the authority, to give leave to all ranks (including officers), to the C.O. This will save much time & correspondence. The C.O. is not likely to exceed his powers, and the whole question of leave & furlo is a question of routine which might usefully be left absolutely in the hands of the C.O., by expunging para 12.
